Tropical Splendor: Costa Rica's Gardens & Natural Wonders

with AHS Hosts Jim and Debra Folsom

January 23 - 31, 2027

Optional Post-trip Extension: Highlands of Costa Rica

Dear Friends,

I am excited to invite you to embark with AHS to Costa Rica, where a world of vibrant gardens, natural beauty, and unforgettable cultural experiences awaits. This carefully curated travel program features visits to stunning gardens, such as the Green Ark Botanical Garden, with its collection of over 1,600 species of tropical plants.

The journey also emphasizes cultural discovery, with visits to local farms and communities. Highlights include an in-depth educational experience at a coffee farm, a hands-on cooking class featuring local specialties, and an immersive chocolate tour, where the fascinating history of cacao, native to the region, is explored. This ancient food's significant role in shaping the cultural identity of Costa Rica will come to life through interactions with local chefs and artisans, offering a rare glimpse into the traditions that define this beautiful country.

Whether walking through the misty rainforest at Mistico Arenal Hanging Bridges, relaxing in the rejuvenating waters of the Titoku Hot Springs, gaining new insights on an educational visit to the Organization for Tropical Studies' La Selva Research Station, or savoring a farm-to-table dining experience, this program is designed to offer a profound understanding of Costa Rica's natural and cultural treasures.

I am delighted that you will be joined by AHS Hosts Jim and Debra Folsom. A member of the AHS Board, Jim served as director of the Botanical Gardens at The Huntington Library, Art Museum, and Botanical Gardens in San Marino, California for 36 years. Jim's lifetime achievements were recognized in 2020 with the AHS Liberty Hyde Bailey Award. Jim and Debra met as botany graduate students at the University of Texas (Austin), where both completed their studies, and have travelled and conducted field study together for over four decades.

If you would like to extend your travel experience, there is an opportunity to join an optional program extension to explore the highland region of Monteverde's cloud forests.

We hope you will join us for this extraordinary exploration of Costa Rica. Limited spaces are available, so we recommend making your reservation early. For your convenience, a reservation form is included in the brochure.

Warmest regards,

Suzanne B. Laporte
